

Mr Junyied Ahmed Talukdhar

Place of Residence: London

Sector: Community Relations

Mr Talukdhar was born in 1953 in Kubazpur, in Jagonnathpur, Sunamgonj. He is the son of Alhaz Rois Miah. He first arrived in the UK in 1967 at the age of 14. Currently, Mr. Miah is married and has been blessed with 5 lovely children, all of whom live in London.

In Bangladesh, he completed his primary education. After arriving in the UK decided to continue his education onto secondary school and later attended City and East London College, where he attained a diploma in construction. He also completed a mediation course in 2001.

He had a great interest in construction work and obtained city & Guilds Certificate and NVQ Level 2 in Building and Construction. He was determined to continue in this line of work. Hence, he decided to create his own construction company, which he named 'City side building Construction', which was the first ever construction company to be owned and managed by a British Bangladeshi. Since, his business has been a major success and continues to be so.

During the Liberation Movement in the UK in 1971, Mr. Talukdhar played a positive and active role. He also protested against the National Front, and has played various other roles in many more organizations. He was the founder of Shapla youth force and founder member of Jagonnathpur Unnayan Shongsta UK. He also was involved with other organizations.

Since coming to the UK, Mr. Talukdar has had an impact on the Bangladeshi community. He has succeeded in fulfilling his dream of opening construction business. Not only this but he has played a key role in making sure that he gives his all to help, and have an impact on the community.

Mr Talukdhar continues to donate very generously to several charitable causes both here in the United Kingdom and also in Bangladesh. He is the current Chairman of Tarling Estate Tenants and Residents Association, under which a number of programmes are run including computer training courses and summer projects to name a few.
