
Dear Mr. Karim,

The Queen has asked me to thank you for the kind letter you sent on the occasion of the publication of British Bangladeshi Who's Who 2017.

Her Majesty was interested to be reminded that the directory is the only publication of its kind.

In return, the Queen has asked me to convey her best wishes to all those featured in, and involved with compiling, this, the Tenth Anniversary Edition of British Bangladeshi Who's Who.

Yours sincerely,

David Ryan
Director, Private Secretary's Office
I would like to extend my congratulations to the British Bangladeshi Who’s Who publication on its 10th anniversary. I am pleased to be able to provide a message of support as you celebrate the achievements of the British Bangladeshi community.

The British Bangladeshi community has provided an important contribution to Britain’s diverse and vibrant society. You should be incredibly proud of what you have achieved over the past 10 years. From small beginnings you have grown to having 32,000 entrants for the awards this year, which is a great accomplishment.

Please accept my best wishes for the event. I hope all those involved in the British Bangladeshi Who’s Who 2017 enjoy the upcoming celebrations.

September 2017
Message from the High Commissioner

I am happy to know that 2017 edition of the 'British Bangladeshi Who's Who' is going to be published soon. I commend the hard work of the organisers to recognise and encourage the members of the British Bangladesh diaspora for their successes in various fields.

Bangladeshi diaspora in the United Kingdom has been contributing since the days of our independence war in 1971 to the economic and social developments of Bangladesh. They have also done well to integrate themselves into the mainstream British society and excel in many upscale jobs and professions. British-Bangladesh community through their hard work and commitment has become an important and crucial link between Bangladesh and the UK. They play a significant role, and feature most prominently in our bilateral relations with the UK. I strongly believe that the new edition of the Who's Who through reflecting the achievements of our community members in the fields of business, politics, art, culture, education and services will reinforce this process.

Bangladesh community in the UK has been moving into the higher level of the socio-economic fabric of the British society and I believe that the younger generation will get strength, inspiration and confidence in their individual pursuit of excellence from the latest edition of this publication.

I wish the publication will achieve its objectives and help celebrate the achievements of our community in the UK.

Md. Nazmul Quaunine
Foreword from the Editor in Chief

This year we celebrate the 10th anniversary of this important publication. The publication has really gone from strength to strength.

When we started we could have only dreamt of this publication continuing and growing at the rate it has. It amazes me that ten years on we continue to unearth some real talent in our community. Of course all of this is possible because of the foundations laid down by the first generation to whom we are indebted.

I hope you enjoy this year’s publication and appreciate the success of our award winner and I hope you will continue to support us for many years to come.

Mohammed Abdul Karim (Goni)
8th October 2017
Foreword from the Editor

We have reached our first milestone as we celebrate the 10th anniversary of this publication and launch gala dinner.

From humble beginnings the publication as grown at an exponential rate and so has the launch gala dinner. We have unearthed some of the real gems of our community.

As it grows we also find the challenge of limiting the number of profiles to a sensible quantity because the reality is that there are just so many successful British Bangladeshis, all with their own unique stories.

However the public features what we believe to be a good selection of individuals from various walks of life representing the wealth of success to be celebrated amongst this unique and wonderful community.

I hope you enjoy this edition and I hope this is the first of many milestones for this publication.

Kazi Arif (MBA, DBA) is the managing director & founder of the multi award winning company Prime Estate Agents. Born in Bangladesh, Kazi knew from an early age that he wanted to run his own business. He moved to the UK in 1996 to continue with his studies; completing his DMS, MBA, DBA at university in the UK. He has since gained many esteemed professional property qualifications. Kazi is deeply proud of his identity and where he comes from. Kazi is a successful entrepreneur and TV personality, and being able to provide people with advice and property knowledge is simply his way of giving back to his community that has given him so much. Kazi is extremely grateful to the almighty Allah, and is in debt to his family members, clients and well wishers for all his achievements, and all that he is yet to achieve. Kazi and his wife have been blessed with two wonderful children; a son and a daughter. With over 14 years experience in the property sector, in 2007, Kazi laid the groundwork that would see him become a successful entrepreneur by opening his own business; PRIME ESTATE AGENTS, in Whitechapel E1. Naturally, his business didn’t expand rapidly overnight, but Kazi never faltered from his belief that consistently delivering outstanding service would not go unnoticed, and that sacrificing countless evenings & weekends would eventually reap its rewards. His hard work did pay off; so much so that Prime Estate Agents has grown significantly, and had to relocate to a much larger office in Brick Lane, London, E1. With this change in office came even more success, as Prime Estate Agents are now a multi award winning agency, winning awards such as Best Independent Estate Agent, London, Real Estate Firm of the Year, Leading Real Estate Advisor of the Year, and have recently been shortlisted for The Negotiator Awards. London Agency of the Year. Kazi began to support his local community by giving free property advice, and this became so popular within his community. Convinced by the success of this, Kazi began hosting his own TV show on Bangla TV, The Property Show with Kazi Arif, which can also be found on Youtube or Facebook. During the show, Kazi gives free advice and up-to-date news to the public, as well as discussing any property related issues with them. Viewers can also call in to the show and ask Kazi questions. Kazi is now a pioneer in the property talk show industry within his own community. The show has been running for nearly four years, which is an incredible accomplishment by itself, yet Kazi still finds time to continue running his multi award winning estate agency. Celebrating their 10th anniversary this year, Prime Estate Agents (Member of ARLA, NAEA) are one of the most established independent estate agencies in London. The Property Show with Kazi Arif is also achieving unprecedented success. None of this could have been possible without Kazi Arif’s unique vision and unwavering hard work throughout the process.

In 2014 wanting to tap into the youth market Shalim opened up the first Asian themed bar/club in the South West called Ayya. Sanam Mia embarked in his business career at the age of 19 in 1989 in the catering industry. Subsequently his business portfolio expanded into the family real estate, cash and carry business (both retail and wholesale) known as SHA Cash & Carry, remittance industry and many more.

However, Sanam's main passion and interest was and remains the global remittance industry. He is the Founder and CEO of Worldwide West 2 East Services Ltd t/a SHA global. He has played a key role within the U.K in developing and growing the outflow of remittance by British Bangladeshi ex-pats living and working in the U.K to Bangladesh within the guidelines of the U.K Governments financial and regulatory bodies. In more recent years he has started to expand his operations into Europe, namely Portugal, Spain and Italy.

Remittance is a vital source of income for the families, friends and charity organisations not only in Bangladesh but in all third world countries globally. Some argue that the remittance industry has done more in alleviating poverty in Bangladesh and other third world countries than global aid given by wealthy nations has achieved. Sanam is a very proud and successful player in this industry on behalf of the Bangladeshi community.

His entrepreneurial streak has naturally led him to become involved in many other business enterprises; however never forgetting his roots and in line with Bangladeshi family tradition, he has also engaged in many social & welfare organisations.

Sanam's main activities in the UK are SHA Global - Money Transfer Operator (U.K. And Europe) working closely with and in partnership with some of the largest money remittance companies in the world such as SmallWorld LCC and Xpress Money, Trustee and Public Relations Officer of Greenwich Islamic Centre (one of the largest and most Islamic multi-diverse centres in the whole of U.K) and he is a Director of Edwards Estates Agent.

In Bangladesh his company is an Exclusive distributor of Well Foods Bakery, Sweets & Confectionary for Sylhet Division. He is also the Proprietor of Sylhet's only operational 'Call Centre' in Sylhet Bangladesh, Founding Director of 'Legacy City' real estate development, Member of SHA Charity Foundation in Bangladesh and Co-founder of H.A.R.T education trust.

Sanam resides with his wife and children.

Harun came to England with his parents and brothers in the late 1960s. At school he proved to be an eloquent and adaptive communicator. He became the most fluent in English among his Bengali peers, often approached by elders in the community to explain and translate from English to Bengali.

He completed his education in 1974 in London, then worked in many trades, including owning and later selling his own Indian restaurant.

Harun felt it imperative to tackle the issue of a disenfranchised Bengali population in East Sussex. He worked closely with the Independent Advisory Group for Sussex Police, became a Food Hygiene Course trainer with Eastbourne College of Arts and Technology (ECAT), translated for many organisations within Sussex and more.

Harun also helped establish a relationship between the local Bengali community and the Eastbourne Mosque, providing grieving families support, especially during times of loss.

He formed the charity, The Shunar Bangla Association, with good friend (late) Mohammed Ansar Miah in 1987. Together they hosted Bengali cultural activities, making good use of Harun's multiple talents in folk music, writing, filming, acting, and sports. His passion and devotion for serving the community was felt by all; there were often collaborative projects with the Chinese and Afro-Caribbean communities in East Sussex thanks to Harun's inexthaustible love of culture.

His campaign to develop a local park in his neighbourhood was noticed by the Liberal Democrat Party’s TRH MP Stephen Lloyd, Borough Council Leader Cllr David Tutt, Cllr Troy Tester, and former Cllr Irene Sims. He was successfully elected Councillor of Langney Ward, Eastbourne Borough Council, in May 2007. He was re-elected for the next three elections. Harun is the first Asian councillor in the southeast of England. Harun held the title of Black and Minority Ethnic (BME) Champion in East Sussex.

His work within the Liberal Democrat Party gained Harun recognition, in 2007 Cllr Troy Tester and Cllr Daniel Purchase proposed Harun be put forward as a candidate for Deputy Mayor. Harun was unanimously voted to become the first Asian Deputy Mayor of Eastbourne Borough Council in 2007 and continues to be so to the present day.

He lives in Eastbourne with his wife Razia Begum and children Chorna and Rajoo.

His first restaurant was opened in Milton Keynes in 1980 and since then his catering empire has grown stronger and stronger. From the moment Mr Ahad entered the catering trade, he saw a vision to create an ultimate shrine to Indian food. Nasir was born in 1979 in Balaganj, Sylhet, Bangladesh. His late father Janfor came to the United Kingdom in 1958 as a young man in search for a better life, to work and to provide for his family. Initially he settled in the Yorkshire region of England and worked in the local factories as a machine operator.

Nasir’s father was a selfless man who always put others first. Throughout the 1960’s and 1970’s he assisted numerous people, including his own extended family members and friends to settle in the United Kingdom and to this day those family member, friends and their children and grandchildren approach Nasir to acknowledge and appreciate that without Nasir's father assistance they probably would not be where they are in life and that he was such a great man.

In the mid 1980’s Nasir, his mother and siblings migrated to London, England. Nasir spent his early years in the Limehouse area of the East End of London before moving to Bethnal Green in the early 1990’s. His home was above a fire station in the East End during his childhood and was the source of his inspiration to become a firefighter. After attending Tower Hamlets College, Nasir was thrilled to get through the firefighter selection process in 2004/5.

For Nasir, it has always been about serving the community he grew up in, helping those that are less fortunate and assisting those that are vulnerable in the Bengali community due to generational, language and cultural barriers. Nasir always reminds himself that it’s important to remember your roots and give something positive back to those who look up to him as a role model.

When on duty at incidents, attending to routine inspections or home fire safety visits, Nasir regularly is approached by young British Asians on the streets of London who often tell him that he is a great inspiration to the young Asian generation in the UK as they rarely come across Asian firefighters. They find it a great pleasure in speaking to him as they can relate to him being from a similar background. Aladin’s West End based business, The Healing Academy, has been operational for several years and is a far cry from Aladin’s initial catering businesses. The Healing Academy has fast established a reputation for excellence and quality reflecting on Aladin’s determination for perfection and insistence on putting her clients first. Aladin’s clients include prominent personalities and blue chip companies in Scotland.

Another business, Aladin the Collection, is a range of exceptional skin care products which have been internationally feted. These have been positively reviewed widely and demand has outstripped supply. Aladin the Collection has further innovative products in the pipeline undergoing intensive research and development.

Aladin’s collection was very product centric but almost in polar opposite at The Healing Academy, Aladin is the brand. The story surrounding this inspirational example of entrepreneurial strength, is putting this business out there beyond Scotland.

Published author Nazia Ali embraced her talent for writing from a young age. Her earliest accolade was the Young Author’s Award in Bridgeport, CT. Followed by an original short story titled From Bangladesh to America—the piece was published in a local magazine. Since then, a dream had been born. Her vision is for her writing to be a practical tool for her readers to build a relationship with their creator. Ali’s work explores dawah and community building.

As a Bangladeshi native, she was highly inspired by her parents—native author, Manoara Shanur and charity worker, Mohammed Choudhury. Kodomtoli, Sylhet was home to Ali in her earlier childhood. Growing up, Ali has spent a good part of her life in the U.S. where she has studied and spent her adolescence. Her family moved to the states in 1988. While living there, she was experimental with her writing and honed her talent. Ali later met the love of her life and moved to the U.K. where she settles today.

Debut book, Healthy and Halal Choice (2012) was Ali’s introduction to healthy lifestyle choices and building a balanced life. The book invites different faiths and ethnic groups to try different recipes that promote a healthy lifestyle. Her debut was well received and made several world appearances including an international book fair in Frankfurt, Germany, book signings in the United States, United Arab Emirates, and Bangladesh. At the local level, Ali was recognized and awarded by Channel S for Healthy and Halal Choice.

After outstanding debut success, Ali released her second book, Into the Light from the Darkness—a fictional novel about a woman’s journey towards Islam. When asked about style and thematic expression, Ali chooses to cite the Quran and Sunnah in her writing. She chooses to preserve the authenticity and the message of her Creator and drive examples of the Prophet (PBUH) and his followers. In 2016, her show ‘Healthy Iftar’ debuted for TV One, helping people find the sweet spot where healthy and delicious meet. In the same year, Ali was invited to several local schools to teach parents how to give up the junk food culture and prepare healthy, cost efficient packed lunches that the kids enjoyed eating.

In 2017, Ali’s new book ‘From my kitchen, to yours’ was published by AuthorHouse.

When Ali is not writing, she is committed to local services and non-profit work. Currently, she serves as the UK Chairperson for the MSB Foundation and the Muslim Baag Madrassa. She is heavily involved with the youth and hosts healthy cooking workshops where children explore the culinary arts; she has also introduced Halal food to several different local schools alongside being a judge at numerous cooking and bake-off competitions. Ali has also hosted several local healthy cooking demos—one in particular that was featured at a local food festival. Her commitment to her community has been recognized among several platforms both at the local and international level. Ali is the face and chairperson of the NFA Foundation and among many of her accolades, her foundation drove her to be an honorary guest speaker for many different events in the USA, UK and Bangladesh. She is also an established property developer.

As of recent, Ali has focused her efforts on a new novel with a release date that is still to be determined.

Abdul Aziz is the co-managing director of Regents Lake Banqueting Venue in Tower Hamlets. This is Aziz’s first business venture and as the youngest of the directors he started the company without any prior experience of the wedding industry nor running a big business. His background is in law; he worked for a city law firm as well as Appeal Courts. He had great interest in reading law and at a point wanted to train as a lawyer but his main passion was in understanding and working with people. In particular, he wanted to explore and understand the human cognition; psychological processes; behavioural science and human development. He left his legal work and went to university, where in 2008 he completed his undergraduate honours degree in Psychology. His interest in business and becoming an entrepreneur was coincidental. This interest stemmed partly from his research and study of Business and Occupational Psychology, which uses psychological theories in examining consumer behaviour; psychology of marketing and understanding organization as systems.

Although business was becoming an area of increasing interest, Aziz also wished to pursue a professional career. Whilst setting up Regents Lake, Aziz undertook his professional qualification at the prestigious Tavistock NHS Clinic in Swiss Cottage London. After two years of study, in July 2013 he was awarded his Master of Arts in Social Work. For two years Aziz worked full time setting up and running Regents Lake and at the same time studying and training at the Tavistock. During his training he worked at St Hilda’s East Community Centre in Shoreditch as well as for Barking & Dagenham Adult Social Services. As a qualified social worker Aziz wishes to pursue his career helping vulnerable adults and children in Tower Hamlets. He sees his career as a means to give back to the very community where he has lived most of his life. He hopes to start his professional career in the near future.

Since obtaining his Masters degree in July 2013 Aziz has been able to dedicate himself to the business as he wants to take Regents Lake to a new height, making it the gold standard in the wedding and venue industry. He now works full time and heads the marketing, finance, business strategy, procurement and has many other executive roles. One of Aziz’s core aims for Regents Lake has always been to produce an experience for customers that cannot be found or matched in any other venue. In this respect he believes he has made a significant impact as many facilities and amenities are exclusive to Regents Lake and many of these have become its own Unique Selling Points.

Apart from running a venue Aziz is also the director of a new catering company which he and his partners hope to refresh, innovate and bring high quality product and services to the wedding industry. Aziz believes that for too long the wedding catering market has been stagnated with the same choices and its oversubscribed menus. He believes the time has come for a refreshing change and a new beginning for exclusive catering to take a foothold in the marketplace. The focus will be on exceeding towards excellence, quality, choice, service and innovation rather than mass selling low quality mediocre products and services that have saturated the market. Aziz and his partners are passionate about this new approach and are already seeing growth in the demand for premium catering services. The incremental shift towards quality over quantity has started and the hope is that the Bangladeshi consumer will continue in this trend. He lives with his parents, his wife and two children.

Lisa Aziz started her broadcasting career as a trainee radio news journalist and newsreader at radio city in Liverpool in the early eighties.

From there she joined BBC regional TV in Bristol as a journalist, reporter and presenter and was then approached by HTV, Bristol to be a main reporter and deputy lead presenter.

Lisa got her big break when headhunted to join tv-am as a senior reporter and was then made main newscaster shortly afterwards.

She went on to join Sky News where she was a main anchor for 13 years before being approached again by ITV news, to head up all news programming in the west country.

Throughout a trail-blazing 25 year career Lisa has also won numerous awards including a Tric and a RTS and worked for many other organisations including BBC World News, CNBC, Financial Times TV and Dubai TV. She has also run a successful career alongside as a worldwide business corporate host and as a charity campaigner.

Born and raised in East London, the second of five children, the young Muay-Thai kickboxer won her first World Title against Swedish champion Susanna Salijarvi and is the current World Kickboxing Association (WKA) 48kg champion, British Atomweight Champion, European Gold medallist and World bronze medallist.

Anyone who believes that women can’t or shouldn’t fight needs to meet Ruqsana Begum. Ruqsana has also won a number of British titles and European championship gold medals.

Ruqsana fights Muay Thai kickboxing, often referred to as the ‘Art of Eight Limbs’, the national sport of Thailand, where it is far more popular than football. Unlike regular boxing, competitors can use any combination of punches, kicks, knees and elbows to strike an opponent during a bout.

Ruqsana’s sporting career is only scratching the surface. She is an inspirational figure way beyond her own community. She is a motivational speaker, teaches kickboxing classes for women, juggles numerous media commitments, and leads a busy family life with many responsibilities as the eldest girl in a large family.

Ruqsana’s road to glory in one of the hardest sports was not easy. Raised in a conservative Bengali Muslim environment, the thought that a young woman would choose to compete in the kickboxing ring would not sit well with some in her community.

But Ruqsana has fought hard to explode negative perceptions of women in sport, and indeed young British Muslims and remains a shining example to young British people.

An Olympic Torchbearer in 2012 in her home city, Ruqsana has been nominated for several awards for her outstanding contribution towards sport and the community, including working with the Dame Kelly Holmes Get on Track Programme; such as the Sky Sports Sportswoman of the Year, Muslim News Sportswoman of the Year and the UK Muslim Women’s Sportsperson of the Year.

The architecture graduate has also launched a stunning range of sports hijabs; Sports Hijabs by Ruqsana Begum, specifically designed for young Muslim women who might feel too intimidated or ill-equipped to engage in sport.

Mr Choudhury was among the first generation of Asian businessmen to have a mobile phone dealership in the market introducing T-Mobile (previously known as oneZone) in the Asian market. With many ethnic groups previously excluded from the mobile phone market because the large mobile phone companies marketed their goods in English only, Mr Choudhury negotiated deals bringing low cost and easy to understand tariffs and terms to ethnic communities in the UK. By translating the marketing material into a number of languages including Urdu, Hindi, Turkish and Polish, it can be claimed that he introduced mobile phone technology to the hundreds of thousands of people from ethnic minorities in the UK.

ChyTel distributes mobile phones throughout UK from its head office in Tower Hamlets and it also offers a walk-in Nokia Care repair service and a retail shop at the premises.

In 1997 Mr Choudhury became a major shareholder of Janomot, the first weekly Bengali newspaper in the UK, and has since made a major contribution to its growth and stability. Mamun Chowdhury is a highly successful British businessman with over 25 years experience in the design and manufacturing of high-end outerwear. He is of Bangladeshi origin from the village of Moynabad of Chunarughat in the District of Habigonj. Having completed his education in Bangladesh, after a short period in the Middle East, Mamun arrived in Britain in December 1991.

Being innately an entrepreneur, he immediately started setting up his own business. In 1994 he established London Clothing Limited, importing garments from abroad and selling to clients in the UK and rest of Europe. This was supported by setting up his own factory to manufacture garments here in the UK.

Realising quickly how fierce the competition was and that the East End clothing manufacturing trade was on the decline. In 1996, he decided to change his business model and focus only on high-end outerwear and work with some of UK’s top designers. Being always socially responsible, in 1998 his business was large enough to provide opportunities for fashion students to gain work experience. Mamun says that he learnt as much about designing from the top designers as he did from the fashion students.

Mamun used his freshly honed designing skills to design and develop his own range. Still hungry to grow yet humble enough to recognise his skills gaps, he decided that he would explore taking on a partner to grow the business further. So in 2001, Mamun asked his good friend Rob Huson, a top city fashion Executive to join him and thus London Tradition Limited was born.

Mamun’s success has been honoured by her Majesty the Queen by being awarded the highest business accolade in the UK with the Queens Award for Enterprise 2014 and International Trade for over 600% growth in 6 years. London Tradition is regarded as a luxury outerwear Brand that inspires and instils confidence in its customers, suppliers and staff because it excels at what it does.

Shamir Chowdhury also known as 'Sam' to friends and colleagues was born in July 1971 in Bangladesh. He arrived in the UK with his family at the age of 14. After leaving school, he continued with his studies at college and then secured a job as an Apprentice Mechanic with the Metropolitan Police Service (MPS). However, Mr Chowdhury performed various roles including Station Officer, Information Security Officer, Information Manager, Information/Business Analyst and Business Architect during his 22 year career with the MPS.

In 2009, Mr Chowdhury completed his Master’s Degree in MSc Information Management and also obtained a Practitioner Certificate as a ‘Life Coach’ through the European Coaching and Mentoring Commission. This achievement enabled him to support many colleagues and friends to reach their full potential via coaching and inspirational talks.

Towards the end of his career with the MPS, Mr Chowdhury became a Volunteer Special Police Constable, serving as an officer for two years within his borough, Barking and Dagenham. He also helped with various recruitment drives including Eid in the Square with the aim to recruit ethnic minorities.

During the 22 years in the MPS, Mr Chowdhury took the opportunity to join the British Army (Territorial) and served for several years. He acquired many transferable life skills and qualifications, which helped him to enhance his career within the MPS. He was the first Asian to join the Regiment – Royal Logistic Corps (RLC). After a few years he was promoted to Lance Corporal, managing solders and sections and attending other specialist courses such as 'Skill at Arms' and 'Instructional Techniques'. These qualifications enabled him to train soldiers and officers at the firing ranges, both indoor and outdoor. Mr Chowdhury also appeared in the Army magazines and newspapers in order to promote and encourage ethnic minorities to join the Army.

In 2011 Mr Chowdhury left both the Army and the MPS with the intention to open a business. By 2012 Mr Chowdhury launched Energise – a women only health club. His aim was to create a comfortable environment where women from all walks of life can exercise and keep fit. The reason for deciding to open a business of this nature is because Mr Chowdhury was fully aware of the fact that women particularly from our Asian/Muslim community face a number of medical issues due to lack of exercise. And although some women are willing to take up exercise, they are reluctant to exercise in a mixed environment. Energise offers a fully-equipped gym, fitness classes, 1-2-1 personal training, an infrared sauna, a beauty lounge and a hair lounge.

Mr Chowdhury is also keen on community development with that in mind, he is involved in community meetings and works with local councillors and the Police to make environmental improvements, as well as helping to prevent anti-social behaviour.

Rupa Huq’s parents came to the UK from the town of Pabna in pre-independence Bangladesh in the early 1960s. She was born in West London and educated at Cambridge, University of East London and Strasbourg University in France. Her main career has been as an academic: she taught at Kingston University and University of Manchester from 1998 onwards until she was elected Labour MP for Ealing Central and Acton in May 2015.

Since being elected the main issues she has spoken on are affordable housing in the capital, transport and the NHS. She served on a UK government Foreign and Commonwealth “Understanding Islam” delegation to Bangladesh in 2008.

Abdul Haque was born in Moulvibazar, Bangladesh in 1976, and currently resides in Maida Vale, West London.

Mr Haque studied a BSc in Maths and Computing at Brunel University, and due to complete an MSc in Advance Software Engineering at the University of Westminster in 2009. As a civil servant, he used to work as a specialist software engineer on flight data processes for National Air Traffic Services [NATS].

However, he has now set up his own company and is the Founder & Managing Director of Purple I Technologies, which specializes in IT software and has played an integral part in promoting the EPOS system to the Bangladeshi/Indian Restaurant industry. He is also the Vice- Chairman of Channel S, the television station for Bangladeshis in Britain and Europe, which was founded by his brother Mahee Ferdhous Jalil - where his technological expertise means that he oversees the busy IT department there.

Away from his successful career, Mr Haque enjoys nothing more than travelling the globe. This seems only natural considering his previous career in aviation technology. He has been to many different countries around the world, but feels that Malaysia is his favourite. He cites the friendly nature of the Malaysian people, the cuisine, the value and the fact that it is a strong Islamic nation as reasons why he finds it so favourable. However, he has also come away from places such as the Maldives and Canada with glowing reports.

Aside from travelling, Mr Haque indulges his hobbies of badminton, going to the gym and watching films, although with such a schedule it must be hard for him to fit these in. Mr Haque is married to Mary Rahman who runs her own successful London based PR company, which specialises in promoting clients hailing from the arts, theatre, film and fashion industries.

Ahmadul Haque served as Deputy Mayor of Sandwell Metropolitan Borough Council. He was the first Bangladeshi Councillor elected in the Midland region in 1995 and has been re-elected ever since. In 2006 Cllr Haque received an award from Channel S for his services to the community. Cllr Haque arrived in the UK in July 1963 and initially became a member of the Pakistan Welfare Association in Birmingham.

Whilst working in various different companies, Cllr Haque was always keen to get into politics and in 1965 became a member of the old Labour party. With friction simmering in East Pakistan and West Pakistan, Cllr Haque set up the first Bangladesh Action Committee outside of Birmingham in 1971. In the same year Cllr Haque helped raise close to £1500 from contributions made by the residents of North Birmingham for the Bangladesh Action Committee movement as well as setting Midlands Awami League.

Cllr Haque is a very active member of the Bangladeshi community always campaigned for equality and as a result in 1976 received an award from the Bangladesh High Commission. Through effort and having to overcome numerous obstacles, Cllr Haque also helped set up the Tipton Muslim Trust Association which is now referred to as Al-Islah Trust and a community centre for local Muslims in Tipton.

Cllr Haque tries to serve all members of the community. In the mid-eighties, Cllr Haque purchased a terraced house via the trust and later set up the Sandwell Confederation of Bangladesh Muslim Organisation (SCOBMO).

Cllr Haque is also a founder member of the City Challenge Project as well as Bangladesh Youth Movement. Through over twenty years of persistence and hard work campaigning for level crossings in Tipton a £2.2 million pound project finally commenced last year. Cllr Haque also played a pivotal role during Ms Syeda Khatun’s election campaign who later became the first Bangladeshi female councillor in the Midlands area in 1999.

Cllr Shafiul Haque was born in 1960 in Bahubal. His education began at the Bahubal Upazilla Primary School before passing his SSC at Dinanath High School in 1976. When he left high school, he completed his HSC at the Sylhet Government College. This was followed by both a BA and an LLB to become a lawyer in the Habigonj Judge Court.

Cllr Haque moved to the UK in 1991, and quickly became involved in the catering industry. He owned a restaurant from 1991 to 2003. He also enrolled at Guildhall University to complete an LLB.

However, in 1992 Shafiul Haque, as he was then known, joined the Labour party. This move would prove to have a great impact on his life only a decade later. This was also his first participation with politics in the UK.

In May 2002, Shafiul Haque became Cllr Shafiul Haque as he was elected the Councillor for the ward of St. Katharine’s and Wapping in the London borough of Tower Hamlets. Since this initial election, Cllr Haque has proven to be an integral member of Tower Hamlet’s Borough Council. He was chosen to be the Vice-Chairman for the Council’s Development Panel and also the Vice-Chairman of the Excellence of Public Service Committee among other important positions.

However, it was in 2004 that Shafiul Haque’s prominence in Tower Hamlets’ Council really came to the fore as he was chosen to be the Borough’s Deputy Mayor. Only two years later, in June 2006, the man from Bahubal’s ascension into politics would reach its highest point as he was elected the Mayor of Tower Hamlets.

Cllr Shafiul Haque served as a successful Mayor whilst he held that position and represented the community very well.

Additionally Cllr Haque is involved with various community initiatives. Cllr Haque is married and has three children – two sons and a daughter.

Tipu is the eldest son of Al Haj Md. Redwanul Hoque (deceased) and Mrs Rufa Begum from Sreeramashi Degir par, Ds.Sunamganj.

Tipu came to the UK in 1989 to join his father, a well-respected restaurateur, establishing the Sonar Bangla Restaurant in 1968 at 46 Hanbury Street, which was both a successful business and crucial forum drumming up support for the Bangladesh Independence Movement in 1971. His father was also an international political organiser for the Jatiya Janata Party. After studying for a BA Education at MC College Sylhet, Tipu moved and continued his studies in London in English, Computing and MCSE (Microsoft Certified System Engineering).

After gaining invaluable restaurant experience for three years, Tipu ran his father’s restaurant before owning and running his own restaurant in 1997. In 1998, merging his IT knowledge and practical restaurant experience, Tipu and his nephew developed customised EPOS software for restaurant/takeaway businesses. The software used in-house was developed and sold to restaurants/takeaways.

Tipu’s initial aspiration to do something positive for the community politically was transformed into helping to change restaurant business culture introducing technology into restaurant businesses by removing the fear of change and technology and making the software user friendly. Despite early business resistance, Tipu foresaw EPOS as an essential business tool, however small the business, which it has become today. After starting his software business in 1998, Tipu is now the director owner of Uniso Solutions Limited. A thriving supplier of specialist catering software to more than 1,000 restaurant/takeaway businesses with a local, national and international customer base. Despite early setbacks, Tipu’s persistence and firm belief that running a successful business is more than material success but requiring integrity, professionalism, adaptability and openness to advice remains central. Unisoft’s survival and advance are a testament to Tipu’s self-belief, work ethic and strong religious faith contributing to success.

Tipu and Unisoft continue to adapt utilising the latest technology with some staff working remotely in Europe, North America and the Asia Pacific. Tipu runs the business from part of a building originally home to the family restaurant business. Staying close to his roots keeps him well-grounded and appreciative of the support received over the years. He acknowledges the support of family, especially his father, and long-term friends and colleagues including Asfar, Nisar, Abu and Gary. Tipu also recognises the continued loyal customer support since 1998, without which he could not have survived and thrived.

Commitment to putting customers first is reflected in 95% of business sales originating from customer recommendations.

Tipu’s main focus in life apart from family and business is active support of community voluntary organisations in the UK and Bangladesh and enjoying martial arts.

Tipu has one younger brother Mohammed A.Hoque and two sisters Salma and Halima. He is a dedicated family man, married to Mrs Rumena Jamjam Chowdhury and has two children, a son E.Hoque Mahdi and daughter Mahira Asma Hoque. They live together with Tipu’s mother in Hanbury Street, off Brick Lane.

Mahbub Murshed is a name for his role in making accountancy an art, bringing accountancy into the drawing room and creating a new dimension to his profession. His success story is now a sensation in the British Bangladeshi community and media. His live TV programme, "Accountancy with Mahbub Murshed" is probably the first ever and the longest running accounting and tax advisory programme in the known world. This only happened because of his vision, hard work, dedication and passion.

Mahbub Murshed, a Certified Practising Accountant, was born in 1962 in Tangail, Bangladesh. Having acquired a government scholarship from Bangladesh in 1982, he went to Bulgaria to study Computer Engineering at Technical University of Varna.

It was from here that he would graft his way to create one of the largest accountancy firms in East London. Upon arrival in Britain in 1987, it became evident that a qualification from a former communist country was not going to be easy for him to acquire a job in his field. With this in mind, he made the brave decision of starting from scratch and changing his path to accountancy. It was late Mr MS Zoha, a prominent Bengali accountant, who inspired Mr Mahbub. Mr Mahbub used to work for one of Mr Zoha's clients and the turning point of his life was when he went to Mr Zoha's office to collect his P45 and being offered a job in his office in 1991. Instead of using the conventional method of manual book keeping and accounting, Mr Mahbub became the pioneer among British Bangladeshis by using his computer programming skills to write his own software.

After being in the shadow of Mr Zoha for nearly 10 years and gaining invaluable work experience and academic qualifications, Mr Mahbub decided to set up his own accountancy firm, Mahbub and Co, in 2001 with his younger brother Shah Arif. Starting off with just one employee and a handful of small clients, it was a huge risk for anyone to start with a fragile business in a competitive market. But through dedication, multilingual skills and sincerity, Mr Mahbub was able to expand his business from strength to strength. His friendly professional approach towards his clients has given him a name, "The Accountant with a Smile".

Additionally Mr Mahbub has supported many of the youth with work experience and career development. Currently Mahbub and Co is holding the ACCA Gold status as an employer, awarded only to the firms which provide high quality work experience in accountancy. After serving the community for more than a decade, Mr Mahbub launched his new and unique initiative to fulfill the community's need for accountancy related issues. He is the key person together with NTV Europe to start producing the programme 'Accountancy with Mahbub Murshed'. He believes in empowering the community. So, rather than bringing the people to the accountant's office he went live on TV to answer the questions in his own capacity.

Being inspired by the success of this TV programme, he decided to set up a training institute in conjunction with his firm where school leavers, accounting students, newly qualified accountants and unemployed people could gain hands-on training and practical knowledge. The initial purpose of this training programme was to break the vicious circle of "not getting a job without experience and no experience could be gained without a job". Mr Mahbub devotes time from his relentless schedule to teach the students.

He also sponsors charities, sports, cultural and community activities. Mr Mahbub is passionate about photography and gardening. His amateur, yet artistic photography is loved by the wider audiences in social media. He plays badminton, listens to music and watches cricket.

Mr Mahbub is married to Nilufa Murshed, daughter of a well known Sylheti businessman of the 1960s - Mr Mosahid Ali. Their son, Nayeem Murshed, has graduated in Biochemistry from Imperial College London, and daughter, Nimah Murshed, is an A Level student.

Her distinct style has been described as bridging the gap between old world traditions with new world savvy. Ms Rekha Waheed secured a two book publishing deal with Headline Publishing Group. Her second novel ‘Deshi Girl’ hit British bookshelves in the autumn 2009.

The publisher has also secured the sequel to Ms Waheed’s debut novel ‘The A-Z Guide to Arranged Marriage’, which is scheduled to be launched in the spring of 2010. Rekha Waheed is currently represented by MBA Literary Agency. Ms Waheed completed her MSc in Economic Development at SOAS, University of London and during her time there held the position of treasurer of the Islamic Society.

Whilst pursuing her passion for writing Ms Waheed travelled the world as a Corporate Consultant. However, she soon caught the attention of a literary agent delivering public readings at the Harrow Writers club. She has since released her debut novel and co-founded Monsoon Press Publisher. Through Monsoon Press, she is also working with the Arts Council and Penguin to raise the profile of British Ethnic and Muslim literature. A regular guest for the BBC Asian network, Ms Waheed consistently stresses the need for literature that caters for diverse urban ethnic communities that exposes the challenges of British-Asian culture. Ms Rekha Waheed is set to become a familiar face.

Naufal Zamir is a successful entrepreneur, a dedicated businessman and a committed leader. He arrived in the UK in 1999, equipped with a degree in law from Dhaka University, and started down the same path as his legally-adept family. His father, brother and sister are all legal professionals, and by 2003, Mr Zamir had completed his LLB at London University, qualified as a Barrister-at-Law and was called to the bar by the Honourable Society of Lincoln’s Inn.

Armed with only a laptop and a fax machine, Mr Zamir set off on a mission to create a business that would challenge him, test him and push him to grow as a person, a businessman and a leader. It was from those humble beginnings in 2004 that he founded Zamir Telecom.

In the company’s short history, it has achieved phenomenal growth in all three of its serving sectors and has established itself as a trusted name in the international wholesale market, a well-recognised brand in the retail market and a respected service in the corporate sector. Recently, Zamir Telecom has soared to new heights, being named amongst the fastest-growing UK tech companies in the Sunday Times’ Tech Track 100 in 2011 and 2012. It has expanded its operations in Middle East, South Asia, South-East Asia, Africa and North America and notably, the company has expanded exponentially, year after year, in spite of rough economic trends globally.

One of Mr Zamir’s forte is public speaking and he has addressed audiences in award ceremonies, events and congregations of industry peers at the highest level. But even with all his success, Mr Zamir continues to dedicate himself to furthering his education and development as businessman. He has attended the LSE Summer Courses in Leadership and Entrepreneurship and regularly attends seminars and events relevant to successful personalities. He has worked alongside a broad range of consultants - whose areas of expertise range from finance and management to technology and regulatory – and is an active member of the entrepreneur community around the world.
